EV'RYBODY'S JUMPIN'

ACT I

Scene 1

Yesterday.

3 A.M.

Arriving at top of the Brooklyn Bridge half drunk, wearing a tuxedo, Ernie drinks from bottle, puts down a straw basket, drinks again and talks to His puppet, which has his identical face. The skyline of New York City is evident. Car horns and flashing lights will be seen and heard throughout.

WALTER

With all that drinking, your breath smells worse than the Fulton Fish Market.

ERNIE

You don't say?

WALTER

Want to tell me why we're really here, smelly?

ERNIE

From this spot, just look at this view.

WALTER

View, shmew, cut the shit; I know why you came here, so jump and get it over with, smelly.

ERNIE

Stop calling me smelly and how do you know I came to jump?

WALTER

Because, I know everything that goes on in that warped mind of yours and I don't blame you Ernie. Just look at your life, besides being miserable, a bomb, a total fiasco, what's it become, one big floppereenio?

ERNIE

How can you say, one big floppereenio? There was a time I used to be famous.

WALTER

Used to be is right, which is past tense, that's why you're jumping, 'cause you're past tense. The water must be really cold, Ernie, brrr, and we know how you hate cold water, especially if it's cold and yucky, and you should only know the 'drek,' all the crap they throw in there. Pampers with doody, and if I was you I'd think about how it's gonna feel when the doody fills your lungs. Disgusting, probably get dizzy from the smell, lose consciousness and then it will finally be all over and thank God, because bad enough we haven't worked the past 30 years. Living alone with you, I can't take it, and I don't want to. And how how can you embarrass John A. Roebling who was born in the town of Mühlhausen, Germany. Don't you know he was the greatest bulder of bridges in the world. He built this Brooklyn Bridge, remember? Don't defame him.

ERNIE

How do you know that? Don't tell me I know. Without Anna, my dear wife, neither can I, I can't take it either.

WALTER

Don't I know, and please and I mean pretty please, do not think of taking me with you. I unequivocally refuse to kick the bucket.

ERNIE

And where do you think I am going? Look at the view of the city. As always, it's beautiful, spectacular.

WALTER

You want me to believe that you 'schlepped' me out of bed at three in the morning to look at this view? And I know what you're thinking; Let's just hug each other as tight as we can, then arm in arm we'll close our eyes and float down the river together. Well forget it Buster, I'm not floating.

ERNIE

I have no intention of committing suicide, and where did you ever get that idea?

WALTER

Because, as always I know what you're thinking, that's why it's easy to predict your future. And I'm warning you Ernie, this is premeditated murder, first degree, MURDERER, MURDERER...! Hey, wait a minute; you're a chicken shit, not a murderer... Go on, you can't fool me, you're not gonna do it, you're all talk, remember? You were a big deal in the 50's and 60's, but, by the time the 70's came around, ventriloquists, like Paul Winchell and you, were about as much in demand as yesterday's newspaper. Luckily, you listened to me and invested the money you made in I.B.M., A.T.T. and Xerox and a few nice oils. Becoming rich is probably the only smart thing you did, now committing suicide, typical 'putz, PUTZ!'

ERNIE

Look at that, the student calls the teacher a 'putz.'

WALTER

Make that a double 'putz, PUTZO!'

ERNIE

Well, you can predict all you want, I have no intention of saying goodbye, not yet, not yet.

WALTER

You were ready to say goodbye last night, weren't you? I heard you thinking. "I'm gonna do it, I'm gonna jump. I'm gonna do it, I'm gonna jump." Well, you're here, so do it, jump and get it over with, Goddamnit. Just leave me out of it, because I still have a few predictions to make.

ERNIE

That's impossible. You have nothing to predict, unless I say so, because you are nothing without me... That's why I named you Walter Wego, instead of alter ego, shmego, Walter Wego.

WALTER

Ego shmego, you think I'm just your alter ego, shmego? Not only am I your heart and soul, I know everything about you, and I hate to say this, but thank God you, not me, no not me, you, you're the one that belongs on the funny farm, going around threatening to kill yourself, so, go ahead, kill yourself, jump you lonely bastard, and see if I care... Don't you understand, I'm perfectly content right here, here's fine, here's 'perfecto mundo.' So jump, be my guest, see if care, Goldie?

ERNIE

You want me to actually jump by myself, all by my lonesome? I thought we were friends? Best friends jump together, don't (Looks up.)
(Drinks and laughs.)
they? Always... Trust me and I'm not going to drink any more Anna, I promise, not a drop and I told you about calling me
Goldie; it's not my professional name.

WALTER

I know why you're jumping and it's not because your poor wife died a couple of months ago. You've been feeling sorry for yourself since you stopped performing and why, because suddenly no one wanted ventriloquists anymore? Big deal, stop feeling sorry for yourself, and get on with it. Aw, poor 'buhby' doesn't have an audience, but more important, what happened to your friends, and do you know why? You stopped taking their calls, you even stopped going to the Friars Club. You've become a hermit, 'putz' and if it wasn't for me, you'd have nobody. I was wrong, you're not a 'putz' you're a 'schmuck,' with capital letters, that's S-C-H-M-U-C-K, SCHMUCK!' And personally, I never thought you were funny, even when we opened for Sinatra at the Sahara, because as always, I got all the laughs, remember?

(Sings ♪ - drinks.)

..."It was a very good year..." 1959, we did Berle twice,
(Ala Ed Sullivan.)

Sullivan and Steve Allen, three times that year. "And now ladies and gentlemen, one of America's truly funny men, Ernie Taylor and his best friend, Walter Wego." And when you'd impersonate Gary Cooper and Eddie Cantor, they peed. For our closing, as always I'd eat two-dozen clams while you sang, "Home on the Range" and they peed even more, and when Anna had a heart attack, whose fault was it? It was mine, I know it was my fault and I'm sorry.

WALTER

If you ask me, guilt's the perfect reason to kill yourself; it always is, isn't it? And I hate to remind you Goldie, but you don't have a will. Kovacs had a will, Jessle had a will, Benny had two wills and you have more money than all of them put together. Even Lenny Bruce, my favorite had a will.

ERNIE

What do I need a will for?

WALTER

I've lived with you for 40 years and you say what do I need a will for? How am I supposed to buy Yankee Doodles? Don't I count?

ERNIE

(Sad.)

Of course you count; you're my best friend, my only friend.

WALTER

If I'm your best and only friend, why don't you leave it all to me? I sure could use it Ern. Who's going to want to pull my strings at my age?

ERNIE

You mean you would spend all my hard earned money without me? I suppose you want the co-op too.

WALTER

And the stocks and bonds, your Matisse, all the oils, I mean everything.

ERNIE

Why I would never part with my Matisse. 35 years ago I bought it for $60,000, now; it must be worth millions...

WALTER

...And who told you to buy that and the Picasso, Ernie? No one in their right mind jumps and commits suicide with a Matisse and a Picasso. In your tux, all right, but with masters? Out of the question. Besides, you're jumping in that slop; Fishes don't give a damn about art, they're into worms, fig Newtons, Oreos, and Malomars, so, be a sport, make me your beneficiary. If anyone deserves it, it's me. You wouldn't have become a zillionaire, if I didn't tell you to make all those investments, remember? Admit it, without me you'd still be a nothing.

WALTER (cont'd)

You wouldn't happen to have a sheet of paper and a pen on you? I'll do a quick little will. It's the right thing, Ernie.

(ERNIE checks pocket and nods no.)

WALTER (cont'd)

And John A. had a son Washington who helped him build this fahcockte bridge, remember, and maybe some Good Samaritan will pass by. I'll ask him. The whole thing won't take more than five minutes. "I, being of sound mind bequeath everything to my best friend, Walter Wego." You sign it and I'll ask a passerby to witness it and then you can kerplooy, kerplunk, floppereenio all you want, just leave me out of it.

ERNIE

You actually don't care if I kerplooy, kerplunk, do you? I should have known. What do you, what does anyone care that I studied with Strassberg, and how many singing lessons did I take?

(Sings 🎵 opera.)

"Vidi Pag-liacho." Dressed in my tux, Ernie Taylor did T.V., the Copa, Vegas, and for 30 years, I opened for Como, Tony Bennet, Nat King Cole and I closed for Bobby Darin eating clams... and then, just like that, they didn't want me anymore... Then, even my Anna, my sweet Anna left me.

(Sobs. - 🎵 sings.)

LAMENT

Turned my tears into sighs.
You should have heard her sing.
She had these laughing eyes that made me dance.
She was the breath of spring.

Why did she go away?
Why do I drink so much?
I'm tortured night and day without romance.
Always yearning for her touch.

There's no love left to give.
That's why I always cry.
And I don't want to live.
Without her touch I would die.

There was a time she said I was so funny.
There was a time when all we did was laugh.
Now, nothing seems so funny.
No one wants my autograph.

She was the reason why.
My life was oh so fine.
A little butterfly that always knew.
What day the sun would shine.

She'd smile and I'd awake.
Made me feel so high.
Gave more than she'd take, she was true blue.
She was the reason why.

It's time that I retire.
This life's just too tough.
This man has lost his fire.
I had more than enough.

There was a time she said I was so funny.
There was a time when all we did was laugh.
Now, nothing seems so funny.
No one wants my autograph.

WALTER

Enough with the pity, enough with feeling sorry for yourself.
Either do it or forget it. No, don't do it, not until you make a will, then...

ERNIE

You really are selfish, aren't you? All you're concerned about is my money, damn it!

WALTER

I don't want your money. Have I ever asked you for a dime, well, have I? I just feel, if you're going to do it, why should I suffer in poverty? There's enough poor schmucks without me.

ERNIE

You really think I came to commit suicide, don't you? I may have thought about it, but, we all think about it sometime, don't we?

WALTER

And what about the fair-well show you said you were going to do last night, tonight.

ERNIE

I was desperate last night... It was only talk.

WALTER

...And the night before you were happy? What about the clams, Ernie? Can we let these perfectly gorgeous clams that you 'schlepped,' go to waste, when there are nine million people in the Bronx looking for a taste? Nu, can we...?

(HOLLY enters and watches from afar.)

WALTER

(Announcing ala Sullivan.)

Ta raaa! "And now ladies and gentlemen, back by popular demand, Ernie Taylor and his only friend, Walter Wego."

(Sound of fly - looks around.)

Bzzzzzz... Bzzzzzz... Is that you Gerty...? Bzzzzzz...

ERNIE

Did you hear that? I think Gerty's back... Here Gerty, Gerty. Come here girl, come to Papa.

WALTER

Since when did you adopt her?

ERNIE

(Fly lands on His ear, so he touches it.)

Now Gerty, don't do that. Bzzzzzz... You know it tickles.

WALTER

Do it Gerty! Give it to him!

ERNIE

No! Bzzzzzz... Gerty, you're going too far, you'll get stuck. Gerty, please stop, Bzzzzzz, I can't hear, Walter, I can't hear.

(Hits head trying to get fly out)

WALTER

(Looks in Ernie's ear.)

Let me take a look. Sure is dark in there.

ERNIE

Never mind how dark it is, take her out, dummy. What are you waiting for? And do you know when John Augustus Roebling died?

WALTER

(Sad.)

Dummy, huh? Thursday, July 22, 1869. You know sometimes you can really hurt a guy. I'm sorry to tell you this but, Gerty's not moving, Ernie. I think she's... gone to meet her maker.

ERNIE

She's nothing of the sort, because I can still feel her! Now, (Hits ear and fly falls out.)
will you please take her out of my ear, she's driving me crazy.

WALTER

(Walter looks at fly on floor.)

Even though I always liked her, tell you the truth, I still have this thing about touching skwooshed flies.

ERNIE

(Bends down and examines fly.)

It isn't Gerty.

WALTER

It's not? Maybe it's her brother Lionel, or maybe it's her sister Sadie. She said they were coming over.

ERNIE

I could never tell which one was Lionel and which one was Sadie.

WALTER

To me, they all look a like and they ain't got no rhythm.

ERNIE

(Picks up fly.)

Bzzzzz. Gerty, you're alive, you're okay. How wonderful.
Bzzzzz...

WALTER

Gerty where are you going? Don't leave me; don't leave me alone with Ernie...

(HOLLY laughs. ERNIE will cover mouth with red handkerchief when WALTER speaks, to cover his moving lips.)

WALTER

Uh oh, looks like we got an audience. My prayers have finally been answered, she's laughing, can, you believe it, someone's finally laughing at me again.

ERNIE

May I ask what you are doing young lady?

HOLLY

Watching you.

ERNIE

And for how long may I ask?

HOLLY

(Ala Ernie.)

"And now ladies and gentlemen, back by popular demand, Ernie Taylor..."

ERNIE

...That long, huh...?

WALTER

...Let her finish, let her finish...

HOLLY

"...And his best friend, Walter Wego."

WALTER

And what's your name good lookin'?

HOLLY

Holly.

WALTER

Like Holly want a cracker.

HOLLY

That's Polly want a cracker, silly.

ERNIE

I'm sorry for interrupting this little tête-à-tête you have going young lady, but I'm afraid you'll have to leave immediately.

HOLLY

Really? I wasn't bothering you, was I? I thought you were very funny.

WALTER

You hear that, Ernie? Even she thinks I'm funnier.

HOLLY

(Laughs.)

I think the both of you were very funny and I loved bzzzz, bzzzz.

ERNIE

There was a time my Anna loved bzzzz, too.

WALTER

I think I just found my replacement, Ernie. She's just as desperate as you, that's why she wants to jump too. Go ahead; ask her what's she doing here?

ERNIE

May I ask what you are doing on this bridge at this unGodly hour, young lady?

HOLLY

I was taking a walk. I came to this spot to look at the view of the city. Isn't it beautiful? Don'tcha just love it from this spot?

WALTER

Cut the baloney, sister. We know why you came to this spot, you came to jump. Everybody jumps from this spot...

ERNIE

...Aren't you afraid something might happen to you?

HOLLY

(Touches cross.)

There's nothing to be afraid of, 'cause when it's your time, it's your time.

WALTER

Even she knows it's your time. How prophetic.

ERNIE

Must you always be so heartless?

WALTER

I hope you're ready to jump, Miss and since I'm not going you know where with this loser, he sure could use some company.

HOLLY

Jump, what made you say jump?

(ALL sing ♫.)

WITHOUT A CRYSTAL BALL

WALTER

Without a crystal ball.
Come winter, spring or fall.
I can see it all.
Poor buhby had a fall.

It all appears quite clear.
I know why you cam here.
Oh my dear, my dear,
You want to disappear.

You're so young and lovely.
You need a lovey dovey.
Find someone to love
I predict you'll have it licked
And you'll get lucky.

HOLLY

It's not that I'm queasy.
 But life just ain't that easy.
 Why do they seem so sleazy?
 And good things don't come easy.

Why do I feel estranged?
 And will things ever change?
 Why do they act so strange

Why you are so positive.
 And I've nothing left to give.
 Ain't no shining star.
 And there ain't no Shangri-la.
 Boy, my life is tough.

WALTER

Pardon the intrusion.
 You seem disillusioned.
 Which leads to confusion.
 Is that a protrusion?

You are very pretty.
 Personable and witty.
 It's such a pity.
 What happens in this city.

WALTER

But you're so young and lovely.
 All you needs a lovey dovey.
 When you find someone,
 I predict you'll have it licked.
 And you'll get lucky.

HOLLY

Of course I'm young and lovely.
 But who wants a lovey dovey?
 Think I need someone?
 Well, you're wrong, ya see I'm Strong and I'm lucky.

HOLLY

Another empty day, I'll fill it with my sorrow,
 For the gentleman I cannot love.
 How do I find you, where do I find you?
 There must be more than this; I have so much to give.

ERNIE

I think you better get going, Holly. It's getting very late and I don't want to be responsible.

WALTER

Don't go, Holly, please, this crazy lunatic is going to jump and he wants to take me with him.

HOLLY

Are you really going to jump, mister?

WALTER

His name is Bernie Goldstein alias Ernie Taylor and he most certainly is going to jump and so are you. Me, I just came along for the ride, and by the way, you wouldn't happen to have a piece of paper and a pen on you?

HOLLY

I'm sorry, but I don't and what makes you think I came here to jump? Sure, I've been depressed a little, but everybody gets depressed once-in-awhile, but that don't mean they want to jump from this spot, especially by them self, isn't that right, Ernie?

ERNIE

That's exactly what I've been trying to tell this Shmego. I'm (Exaggerated laugh.)
just a little depressed, that's all and we all get a little depressed, sometime, right Holly?

HOLLY

You don't seem that depressed to me, because you just made me laugh... Making people laugh, that's a gift. All you see on the news is terrible things. That Bin Laden and his terrorists, people killing people. Oh, please don't jump. You're a wonderful person and this world needs wonderful people like you to make them laugh... You're like a breath of spring. I mean it, I really do, and, and, maybe we can go to the Museum of Natural History some time?

WALTER

Museums are out. He has a thing for Tyrannosaurus Rex.

HOLLY

What about Central Park? We can go to Sheep Meadow, rent a rowboat.

WALTER

He never rows in public. The reason why this hermit is going to jump is he doesn't know or care what happens when you lay there six feet under: "The worms crawl in, the worms crawl out. They crawl in your stomach and out of your mouth."

ERNIE

(Drinks.)

You are disgusting, absolutely revolting.

WALTER

When you jump, you'll go straight to hell, you hear? I promise you won't pass GO and collect $200, so 'gay in drehd,' go to hell, and be my guest, 'buhby.'

ERNIE

You are so Jewish.

WALTER

At least I admit it. Some Taylor, you're name was Goldstein...

HOLLY

Please Ernie, don't do it. I think I like you. Goldstein?

ERNIE

At least I made someone laugh. Yes, it's Goldstein, its Goldstein, but don't tell anyone, because remember the Narzis.

WALTER

(Sings ♫.)

Narzis, schmarzis, "As long as Goldstein needs me..."

HOLLY

You can't take your own life Mr. Goldstein, I mean Mr. Taylor and what's Narzis?

WALTER

You forgot about Adolph and his Narzis, and just tell this 'yutz,' just tell him to leave me out of it, Goddamnit. Since the two of you are so determined to say goodbye, as mein Feurer would say, "auf vider zein."

HOLLY

Oh, don't you worry Walter Wego; he's not going to jump and neither are you. That is if I have anything to say about it,
(Screams.)

'cause I just might start screaming: RAPE! RAPE! HELP
I'M BEING RAPED!

ERNIE

Quiet, do you hear? I said be quiet! Do you want the police to come?

WALTER

She's gonna wake the whole damn neighborhood, Goldie and we know how they hate noisy ventriloquists, especially three o'clock in the morning.

HOLLY

You're so funny, Walter Wego. You are adorable.

ERNIE

I'm sorry, but I think you better go where you are going Holly, its three o'clock in the morning and it is getting late.

HOLLY

I'm not going anywhere, not unless you promise you won't jump.

WALTER

Promises, promises. You think tomorrow will be any different?
He's a jumper and once a jumper always a...

HOLLY

...Even next week, you have to promise you won't jump next week.

(ERNIE drinks.)

HOLLY (cont'd)

And you better stop drinking... It killed my father when I was a kid. Seems I loved him more than anything.

ERNIE

What about your mother?

HOLLY

(Sobs.)

She died six months ago and now I'm all-alone. I hate being alone, it's so lonely.

WALTER

(Sings ♫.)

Oh, please don't cry...

LOOK in the MIRROR

When it falls apart at the seems.
Close your eyes and start a new dream, you'll feel better.
Spread your wings and fly away.
You can laugh and smile in stormy weather.

When your hearts aching don't give up.
Let love fill your cup and you'll feel happy.
Ev'rybody needs a helping hand.
Cheer up and strike up the band.

Catch a shinning star and make a wish.
Second Avenue for a knish.
Go to the zoo, feed a giraffe.
Look in the mirror and laugh, laugh, laugh.

Stop feeling blue and be glad.
Nothing's really ever that bad, things will get better.
Nothing's quite as bad as you think.
So, before you sink, you got to pull yourself together.

Just believe you can do anything.
What ever the moment may bring, live in the moment.
Don't let life pass you by.
Kick up your heels and fly.

In china Town or Mulberry Street.
Fill yourself, there's so much to eat.
So much to do, stay on the path.

Look in the mirror and laugh, laugh, laugh.
Okay Ernie, she's been more than patient. It's time to jump and I hope Roebling doesn't hear about you jumping off the Brooklyn Bridge.

HOLLY

Ya know Walter, maybe if you stopped reminding Ernie about committing suicide, he might even forget about the Narzis.

ERNIE

What are you listening to this idiot Shmego for?

WALTER

I'm not the straight man Ernie, you are, remember? Anyway Holly,
I'm sure Gerty won't forget you when you say ta ta and too bad,
'cause I hear she really likes you.

HOLLY

I'm glad somebody does... Joey left.

ERNIE

Who's Joey?

HOLLY

A guy that said he loved me, but if he loved me, how could he leave at a time like this? They all leave you.

ERNIE

Did you say all?

(HOLLY nods yes.)

WALTER

Tell him what they 'all' made you do, honey, I mean Holly. It was dirty, wasn't it...? I see something growing and we know what it is, don't we.

HOLLY

You really know, don't you?

WALTER

I know everything; I see everything, because I am a psychic, that's P-S-Y-C-H-I-C.

HOLLY

I know how to spell, thank you.

WALTER

That's not the only thing you know how to do, right, you 'momza,' you. Why, I oughta break that two-timer, Joey's head. It was really dirty, wasn't it?

HOLLY

(Sobs.)

That's why I belong in hell, and I deserve it, I deserve it.

ERNIE

You deserve nothing of the sort. Now, would you like to tell Uncle Ernie what exactly is troubling you...?

(HOLLY nods no.)

WALTER

With your luck, they'll probably never find your body and you're worried about what's troubling her? If I was you, I'd be more concerned with, "The worms crawl in, the worms crawl out..."

ERNIE

You said that already and it wasn't funny the first time.

WALTER

Must I apologize?

ERNIE

Only if you think it's necessary... 'Nu,' I'm waiting.

WALTER

I'm thinking, I'm thinking. Can't you see I'm thinking?

ERNIE

I think so.

HOLLY

You guys are so funny. You could have your own sitcom. Every week a different comedian plays Walter Wego's cousin. They come to live with you. Walter hates his cousins, YOU, Ernie loves them. Funny?

ERNIE

I think I like it.

WALTER

Like it, I love it. We'll get Berle, Youngman, George Burns, that is, if those stiffs are not too stiff. Now, that's funny.

ERNIE

...And Hackett. We have to get Buddy... But it won't work, Mr. Shmego, I know what you're trying to do.

(Slightly indignant.)

WALTER

You got me pegged, like an open book, Ernie. Maybe, what they say is true? I need you, so, please don't jump and make me an orphan. You know how I hated that movie, "Boys Town," but tell you the truth, this does seem like the perfect segue for the two of you to make your exit. So jump damnit, jump! And that means you too, baby.

HOLLY

You think I came here to jump? Why would I jump, tell me, why would I jump?
(Sings ♫.)

THEY CALL ME LUCKY

I'm the happiest girl in town.
And my feet don't touch the ground.
I, I live without a care.
Because he's always there.

And when he smiles he fills my life.
I know that he'll make me his wife.
His love is for all time.
He's sweeter than sweet wine.

He says that I'm smart.
'Cause I have it all.
I never had a fall,
Or a broken heart.

We dance the night away.
And when we make love,
In heaven above,
We watch the angels play.

One day I'll have his little child.
Together we will always smile.
He'll become a teacher,
A lawyer or a preacher.

And with God's help will have a girl.
She'll brighten up our world.
Call her peaches and cream.
Ain't that the perfect dream?

He says that I'm smart.

We'll jump when there's no more clams and 'la,' right Tippy?

TIPPY and ERNIE

That's right, when there's no more la!

HELEN

Well, I'm not waiting, I can't, my husband will be here any minute and his cackling, I can't take it. Every time he cackles, I get sick.

TIPPY

You know, your patients count on you.

HELEN

Big deal, and you haven't told me your story, Tippy, why not, don't you have a story?

WALTER

...No, forget that.

ERNIE

I don't want to know.

HELEN

(To Walter.)

What are you trying to be funny?

WALTER

Since my Bar Mitzvah. Ask Goldie, it's in his blood too.

ERNIE

Try, try as you may, you are still not funny, Walter.

WALTER

Where have I heard that before?

ERNIE

This is no time for joviality, Mr. Walter Wego, Shmego, Shrimpy!

WALTER

Must be something I ate. Everything seems to be repeating on me.

LEO

I say let's get rid of the little twerp and the dame; They both have big mouths.

HOLLY

You know, your patients count on you, Helen, lots of people do.

HELEN

Big deal.

TIPPY

Even though your husband cackles, I'm sure it's just a sign of love.

HELEN

You may call doing it once a week love. Do not include me.

TIPPY

Mary, Davey, they used to love me too...

ERNIE

So did Anna, until I gave her a heart attack... Now, I'm all-alone.

HOLLY

THEY CALL ME LUCKY

I'm always alone...

He says that I'm smart,
'Cause I have it all.
I've never had a fall,
Or a broken heart.

And when we make love,
In heaven above,
We watch the angels play.

...Wish I had someone that loved me.

"What the world needs now, is love sweet love..."

(ALL sob.)

HELEN(Dramatic.)

That's what this is all about, isn't it? You think no one loves you, because you don't matter, but you're all wrong, you matter. All you have to do is make an effort, reach out, touch someone and you'll feel and you'll matter. You can do it, matter, you have too... matter.

TIPPYHOLLY*LEO*ERNIE

Mary. What's a little? I hate being alone. I can't.

WALTER(Sings ♫)

"You're nobody, 'til somebody loves you..." I used to be in show biz and I still miss it... Don't you still miss it too, Mr. Goldstein...? Ain't that part of the reason you want to end it? Lot's of great comedians made comebacks. How many comebacks did Chaplain make and what about Groucho? He was a flop for years until he did, "You Bet Your Life." I love that idea Holly had about my family coming to visit us. It's really funny Ernie, I hate them and you like them. I really like it, the perfect sitcom.

HOLLY

I hope that means I'll be given credit for conceiving "Wego's Amigos."

WALTER

Did you hear that Ern, "Wego's Amigos?" Hysterical, I love it, don't you love it? "Wego's Amigos, Wego's Amigos."

ERNIE

Well, it does sound sorta nutty. That, is nutty in a Wego Shmego sorta way, but who would believe this nut, me, in a hit sitcom after all these years? That's nuts. What happened to Roebing?

WALTER

I bet if you called just a few of those big shot producers and a couple of your nutty friends, Lewis, Hacket, Cosby and you tell them you're gonna give "them" a chance to make a big comeback by letting "them" play my cousins, they'll pee. They'll love it so much; you'll have every crazy comic begging to do, "Wego's Amigos." I love that name Ernie, I love it, it's a natural. Just say it once. Betcha can't. You know everything, I quit.

HOLLY

It's so exciting, isn't it? I just created my first sitcom. I can't believe it. I bet Eddie Murphy and Billy Crystal will be your funniest Wego Amigos. Oh, I can just see it.

WALTER

Remind me to call Crystal and Murphy first thing in the morning. Absolutely brilliant. And you're unique, O.K.?

HELEN

I hope that doesn't mean that the rest of you aren't going to jump? You promised... Tippy?

TIPPY

Don't look at me, Holly's next. I came after her, way after.

HELEN

(Takes Holly's hand and readies to jump.)

Size places, huh...? Well Holly, what say we hit the water? I do hate cacklers, so let's get a move on, shall we? I really don't want to hear him cackle again.

HOLLY

I think I changed my mind Helen. I figure if I can have a sitcom on T.V., why I can't have a baby. I mean, things could be worse, I could be doing radio.

HELEN

(Takes Tippy's hand and readies to jump.)

Okay Tippy, the ball's in your court. We have to get a move on. I told you about his cackles, didn't I? And I know I'm sure gonna miss you. That story about how you killed your wife and son, I don't blame you at all for wanting to kill yourself, 'cause the guilt you must feel must be unbearable. Who cares that you loved them more than anything, and don't you think Mary loved you? And if she loved you half as much as you loved her, do you think she would want anything, but the best for the man she loved more than anything? And Davey, who do you think he admired more than you, Superman? Even though your son is gone, don't you think he would want his father to go on? Doesn't what your family would have wanted, still matter?

WALTER

That was one hell of a preamble, but, save your breath, they said they're all going to jump so, 'luz 'm gayn,' let 'em jump.

TIPPY

Hold on there a minute. This lady just said something that got me thinking. Me, being in the street, I made it happen; I wanted it to happen, because I felt so Goddamn guilty. I was guilty until Shrinkydinky made me realize that Mary, Davey, they wouldn't want to see me living like this... like a bum. I am a bum, but one time I had it all and I made it all on my own, every dime. I borrowed 15 grand from my uncle Jack and I opened my first shoe store. I only sold the best and people ate it up. I paid uncle Jack back in less than a year and from then on, there was no stopping me. I imported the grooviest Italian and French shoes and within six years I had four stores, in the finest areas, all over the East Coast. Three years later I had two more stores and I couldn't spend the money fast enough. Imagine that, Ernie, I'm asking you for change. What a come down, huh?

(Almost sings.)

I was there Tippy, "Don't lock the door, don't hold the mail, I'm on my way out."

TIPPY

If you can make a come back, why can't Tippy? All I need is a shower, maybe a nice haircut and some nice togs, a telephone, get a few samples, make a few phone calls, tell 'em that (Sort of sings ♪)

"Tippy's back in town."

ERNIE

Far as that shower is concerned, long as you don't use too much of my cologne, I think it can be arranged and you might even be invited to stay for a few days if you behave. I'll not have you drinking all my bourbon, not without me, understood?

TIPPY

What about the haircut and...?

ERNIE

...I told you about the cologne, didn't I?

TIPPY

You certainly did and I heard every word.

HELEN

Leo, it looks like it's just you and me. Shall we show them our belly whopper?

LEO

You can't fool me, Ms. Shrinkydinky. Since they all chickened out, you think you're going to get me to chicken out, well it looks like your right again, don't it Ms. Shrinkydinky, it sure been nice knowing you...

(Puts gun to head.)

HOLLY

...Wait Leo, please don't shoot yourself. If you need a little, I'll give it to you. Just tell me what it is. All I know is that I'm going to have a baby and, she sure could use an Uncle Leo, and I could use a best friend, someone that understands how a girl feels, Leo.

LEO

Now, don't you start on me, Holly, I'm warning you.

HOLLY

(Coy, flirtatious, touches Leo.)

What are you warning me about, Leo?

LEO

Even though you're having a baby and I sure would like to be an uncle and all, just don't touch me and don't look at me like that, please.

HOLLY

You're very sensitive and shy, aren't you? How sweet.
